

Skilled workers

A hotspot for skilled workers

Baden boasts a large number of highly qualified specialists. One reason for this is the city's strong international profile. A large market for skilled workers has developed here thanks to high-tech knowledge established on a global level. The companies located in Baden also benefit from the direct proximity to talented graduates from prestigious universities and research centres.

With a focus on sectors such as high-tech energy, industry-oriented ICT, medical technology and healthcare, the job market is geared towards future-oriented fields of Industry 4.0. The city's cosmopolitan lifestyle is influenced by an above-average educated population from over 100 nations.

